

Wroclaw Airport

Warschau

Project Description

The Airport Copernicus is an international airport located in the city of Wrocław. The construction of a new terminal and the modernization aimed at increasing the capacity of the airport up to 4,5 million passengers. Lindner was responsible for the installation of raised and hollow floor systems.

