

Hogan Lovells

Moscow, Russia

© Lindner, Arnstorf (D)

Project Description

Hogan Lovells is a global law firm that helps companies across the spectrum of their critical business and legal issues. Lindner fitted 170 m² of perforated metal ceiling plates in different sizes with an acoustic fleece line in black to this project. The system is made up of a lightweight, easy to handle and hidden substructure. It can be opened and folded down quickly and easily, allowing for easy access even after installation.

General

Building Type	Office buildings
Completion	2019
Architect	UNK project

Completed Works

- Ceilings
Metal Ceilings

