

Breuninger Stuttgart - Main administration

Stuttgart, Germany

Project Description

Fill the customers with enthusiasm and give them a unique shopping experience - by following these simple principles, Breuninger became one of Germany's largest fashion shop chains. Customers can enjoy the wide range of brands and services in 11 German cities.

Breuninger's flagship store in the German city of Stuttgart is a prime example of the modern and unique shops Breuninger runs. Additionally, the main administration of the enterprise is located on the 5th floor of the building. After a refurbishing measure, these office spaces now provide the admin employees with a dynamic and open working environment. Lindner fitted three of its core competences in interior fit-out to this project: the whole area of the office spaces was fitted with the FLOOR and more[®] system, while the system LIGNA was chosen as the solution for IT and server rooms. In order to ensure accessibility all over the office, custom ramps were fitted into the room concept. Both appealing and acoustically effective partition of the single offices is ensured by partitions systems Lindner Life Freeze 137 and Lindner Life Pure 620. As a solution for conference rooms in the open-plan offices, Lindner delivered the room-in-room system Lindner Cube. The temperature of a room plays an important role on the efficiency of the employees working in it. That is why the Plafotherm[®] E 200 heating and cooling system was installed in the conference rooms of the main administration. It creates a pleasant atmosphere and pleases the eye with its aesthetic design. In order to give the open-plan offices a "Loft" character, it was decided that no ceiling systems would be used in these areas.
