

Office and practice building

Leutkirch im Allgäu, Germany

Project Description

This ecologically sustainable new construction plays an important role in the revaluation of Leutkirch's railroad station district. This multipurpose building houses a variety of carefully selected tenants, including the administration of the local bank and a centre for dialysis.

Lindner heating and cooling ceiling systems were installed in all areas of the building, providing a both aesthetic and functional solution for controlling room temperature.

General

Building Type	Office buildings
Company Division	Lindner SE Heated and Chilled Ceilings
Completion	2014
Client	Leutkircher Bank eG
Architect	GMS Freie Architekten

Completed Works

- Ceilings

Heated and Chilled Hook-On Ceilings

Heated and Chilled Canopy Ceilings

