

Centre Pompidou

Metz, France

© Shigeru Ban Architects Europe et Jean de Gastines Architectes / Metz Métropole / Centre Pompidou-Metz / Photo Roland Halbe

Project Description

Centre Pompidou is the first decentralized branch of the famous and identically named centre of arts and culture in Paris. Lindner delivered 5,200 square metres of the new air-ducting raised floor system NORTEC sonic, which provides an optimal indoor climate.

General

Building Type	Museums and Exhibitions
Completion	2009 - 2010
Client	City of Metz
Architect	Shigeru Ban/Jean de Gastines / Philip Gumuchdjian

Completed Works

- Calcium Sulphate Panels

Calcium Sulphate Panels

NORTEC sonic

© Shigeru Ban Architects Europe et Jean de Gastines Architectes / Metz Métropole / Centre Pompidou-Metz / Photo Roland Halbe